Madras HC Spikes Amendments Banning Online Card Games in TN

Diya Rekhi & Gaarav Lghate

Chennai | Mumbai: The Madras High Court on Tuesday struck down Tamil Nadu's ban on online gaming, providing relief to gaming companies that had challenged the legislation — introduced first as an ordinance — last year.

The Gaming & Police Laws (Amendment) Act, 2021, banned betting or wagering in cyberspace on poker, rummy and also games of skill if played for a wager bet, money or other stakes. The order came by a bench of Chief Justice Sanjay Karol and Justice Suresh Kumar Ramamoorthy came on a batch of petitions filed by online gaming companies challenging the government action in November 2020. The judgement copy was not available as of press time Tuesday.

The court, while striking down the amendment, called it unconstitutional, though it added that its directive would not prevent the government from introducing appropriate legislation conforming to Constitutional principles of propriety.

It said the existing amendment was capricious, irrational, excessive and disproportionate. The proceedings of the court were streamed virtually.

"The court has accepted that running online games falls under the right to carry on trade and commerce guaranteed under Article 19(1)(g) of the Constitution and has asked the state government to introduce a proportionate, balanced and less-intrusive legislation to regulate the online skill-gaming industry, if they so desire," technology lawyer Jay Siva, who appeared for the petitioners in the online gaming matter, told ET.

"The historic verdict is a boost for the nascent and burgeoning online gaming industry," Siva said. The law's provisions had "obiterated the differentiation between games of skill and chance, which runs contrary to well-established jurisprudence laid down by the Supreme Court."

The petitioners had argued that they were running legitimate businesses and since these games were permitted to be played offline, they should not be banned online.

The state government had argued that youngsters were losing large sums while playing these games online, adding that when these games are played for stakes, it becomes a form of gambling.

CHAIRMAN EMERITUS OF ZEE TO START DIGITAL VIDEO VENTURE

Settled Over 91% of Debt, Claims Subhash Chandra

In an open letter, Subhash Chandra says the group has come out of financial stress situation and efforts are on to clear the remaining debt

Our Bureau

Mumbai: Subhash Chandra, chairman emeritus of Zee Entertainment Enterprises (ZEE) and founder of the erstwhile Essel Group (now the Subhash Chandra Group), on Tuesday said he has settled over 91% of the debt with 43 lenders and the remaining dues are in the process of being paid.

In an open letter, Chandra today shared the details of the debt resolution process and the steps taken to pay off the lenders.

"The letter came two-and-a-half-years after Chandra's 'dramatic and unusual' letter dated January 25, 2019, where he acknowledged committing strategic mistakes, which caused the default and ballooning of promoters' debt. The first letter followed a crash in share price of various Essel Group companies, which eroded nearly ₹5,000 crore of investor's wealth in a single day.

"I am happy to report that we have come out of the financial stress situation by settling 91.2% of our total debt to 43 lenders in 110 accounts. 88.3% of the amount has been paid, while the remaining 2.9% is in the process of being paid. We are making all the required efforts to settle the remaining 8.8% of our total debt, having no more 'dramatic and unusual' letter dated January 25, 2019, where he acknowledged

Covering Losses

Letter came two-and-a-half-years after Chandra's first 'dramatic and unusual' letter where he acknowledged committing strategic mistakes

This had caused default and ballooning of promoters' debt.

The first letter followed a crash in share price of various Essel Group companies

This had eroded ₹13,666 cr of investor's wealth in a single day

des seem fixated on their belief on the amount claimed and amount payable with the difference being too large. The issue is pending in the court for determination," he wrote.

Chandra also said the asset divestment took a setback during the pandemic, which slowed down the overall debt resolution process.

Chandra has reiterated that the group has exited or sold business including infrastructure, financial services and print media. The promoter holding in ZEE has also come down to 4%, after the promoters were sold over 30% stake to repay debts.

Meanwhile, Chandra added that group companies — Zee Learn, SFTI Networks and Zee Media Corporation, are going through a difficult phase of their existence, mainly because of lack of capital.

Chandra said that his brother Jawahar Goel's company — Dish TV — is also suffering and losing its base because of it.

"I would like to publicly apologise to Jawahar and his family. Along with Jawahar, I would also like to convey my appreciation towards my other brothers Laxmi and Anshok, who are standing by me in these difficult times," Chandra stated. Ending on a positive note, Chandra has said he was planning to start a new innings in a digital video venture.

Due to the Covid-19 pandemic, a very low number of family-based green cards were approved in fiscal 2020, resulting in them being 'rolled-over' into the employment-based category in FY21.

USCIS follows an October to September year Indian nationals, followed by the Chinese, face a long wait for permanent residency in the US on account of the annual country caps on the number of green cards that can be issued.

The most recent USCIS data shows that approximately 273,000 employment-based green card applications were pending as of March 31, 2021.

"USCIS' inability or unwillingness to adjudicate green card applications in a timely manner is going to lead to the loss of at least 100,000 green cards in just over 90 days," said Greg Siskind, founding partner at Siskind, Suser PC and attorney to the plaintiffs. "That will mean many years of extra waiting for people who have already in many cases, been waiting more than a decade for a green card. This suit is designed to force USCIS to institute immediate changes to prevent this from happening."

UAE Bizman Buys Worli's Raheja Arbour for ₹75 cr

Kailash Babar@timesgroup.com

Mumbai: UAE-based businessman Loral Talwar's family has bought an entire six-storey sea-facing luxury residential villa, Raheja Arbour in Worli, for ₹75 crore from realty developer Raheja Universal.

The property with nearly 21,000 sq ft built-up area has three large duplexes with a private garden and an infinity swimming pool on the terrace overlooking the Arabian Sea.

The project is built on a plot spread over one-third of an acre adjoining the landmark residential developments, including Samudra Mahal, Eden Hall and Raheja Anchorage.

Talwar has purchased the property through one of his companies, Lord Ayyappa Enterprises, while Raheja Universal has sold the property through their subsidiary Radhika Properties.

The deal was finalised in January and was registered in February allowing the buyer to avail the benefit of lower stamp duty that was valid until March end.

ET's email queries to Talwar's firm and Raheja Universal remained unanswered until the time of going to press. Transaction advisor Savills India declined to comment for the story.

Talwar is managing director of the Sharjah-based Terrazzo Group, which was set up as a joint venture in 1977.

Terrazzo is the largest manufacturer of high-end construction products in the Gulf region and it supplies building materials to local demand for government departments in the UAE.

He also founded Emirates Fabbar, which is part of the Bukhair Group, in the mid-1980s to cater to local demand for factory fabricated steel reinforcement.

Terrazzo has been involved in supplying materials to all the major projects in the UAE, including Dubai and Abu Dhabi International airports, Palm Jumeirah, Burj Khalifa, Mall of Emirates, Saadiyat Island and Yas Viceroy.

BOOST FOR REALTY

The deal was finalised in Jan and was registered in Feb, allowing the buyer to avail the benefit of lower stamp duty that was valid until March end

Last week, Worli witnessed another big property transaction when a Sikkim-based manufacturing and export firm, Hari Krishna Exports, bought an entire six-storey residential property on sea face from Essar Group Friday.

This transaction was concluded on Friday unlike most big-ticket property transactions that are being reported now but were finalised before March 31, the last day to avail the benefit of reduced stamp duty.

US Suit Challenges Slow Green Card Adjudication Process

Indian nationals face decades-long wait for permanent residency in the US

Priyanka Sanganani@timesgroup.com

Pune: A group of 125 Indian and Chinese nationals have filed a lawsuit in the US challenging the slowdown in adjudicating green card approvals in a bid to save the thousands of Indian and Chinese professionals who are stuck in green card applications, because of which "hundreds of thousands" of visas are going to be wasted and hundreds of thousands of Indian and Chinese professionals will miss the opportunity to become permanent residents. Instead, they will fall back into an interminable "backlog" of several years, sometimes decades, before they can immigrate.

"The failure to fully adjudicate all available visas in a fiscal year is government waste of public proportions. Congress

PETITION SAID...

Department of Homeland Security had failed to timely adjudicate certain green card applications created a 'spillover provision' specifically so that unused visas would spill over from the family category to unfilled family-based visas into the employment category," said Jeff Joseph, senior partner at Joseph Law Firm.

Due to the Covid-19 pandemic, a very low number of family-based green cards were approved in fiscal 2020, resulting in them being 'rolled-over' into the employment-based category in FY21.

USCIS follows an October to September year Indian nationals, followed by the Chinese, face a long wait for permanent residency in the US on account of the annual country caps on the number of green cards that can be issued.

Takeover Gets: J&K Govt Gets Exemption for Bank Stake Buy

MUMBAI | Sebi has given exemption to the government of Jammu and Kashmir from the takeover order for its proposed purchase of 6.6% shares in Jammu & Kashmir (J&K) Bank.

Following the proposed acquisition, the shareholding of the Jammu & Kashmir Bank on the account of the preferential allotment in the bank in FY22, has triggered Sebi's takeover rules.

The regulator said there will be no change in control following the acquisition.
